Paul Milligan, January 10, 2012

AVSolution has installed a multi-room AV installation for ecommerce company eCommera's new offices. The project includes three 40in HD displays in reception showing TV feeds and designed content. Alongside the reception area, an internal break out room with a projector and screen was installed

AVSolution also worked on four custom built meeting rooms and the main boardroom, each with Polycom SoundStation IP 7000 phone conferencing capability and NEC projectors.

To improve staff workflow, AVSolution provided a bespoke project space with video and telephone conferencing, projection with accompanying screen, and an interactive SmartBoard.
